MAINE PRINCIPALS' ASSOCIATION

MAXWELL LEADERSHIP

I Love this Place

Date: March 23, 2027 ← Click here to register!

Location: MPA Conference Center and 2 virtual sessions in the Winter

---

AGENDA

8:30 - Continental breakfast and Registration

9:00 - Workshop Begins

2:30 - Workshop Ends

COST

$200 for Members

$150 for Aspiring Leaders who attend with an MPA Member

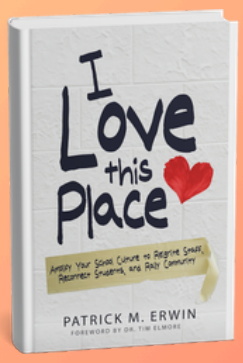
$309 for Non- Members

*Optional - Copy of "I Love This Place" by Patrick Erwin



Patrick M. Erwin is the Director of Content and Training at the Maxwell Leadership Foundation, where he blends his passion for education and leadership development. Previously, he spent 17 years as High School Band Director at one of the largest programs in the southeast, Hillgrove High School in Cobb County, GA. Patrick holds degrees in Political Science, Music Education, and Leadership from the University of Georgia, Auburn University, and Berry College. Recognized with awards such as the Symetra 'Hero in the Classroom' and George N. Parks "Leadership in Music Education," Patrick is a sought-after speaker on leadership, student engagement, and professional development. He has presented at conferences such as the Midwest International Band and Orchestra Clinic and the California Directors of Activities National Conference. Patrick continues to inspire educators and leaders alike with his commitment to fostering growth, creating positive cultures, and shaping the next generation.

What to Expect:

Based on his newly released book, "I Love This Place: Amplify Your School Culture to Reignite Staff, Reconnect Students, and Rally Community", Patrick's workshop style can be described as anything but "sit and get." With a mix of engaging, fun experiences, meaningful conversations, and practical applications, participants can expect to learn together, laugh together, and leave ready to take action.